

It's About Time. . . 385.1087
.. for a Change!
.. for an Independent Commissioner!
.. for a More Affordable Jefferson County!

Sandy Hershelman
for Jefferson Co. Commissioner, District 2

P.O. Box 521
Port Hadlock, WA 98339
hershelman@cablespeed.com

Posted on ElectSandyHershelman.com

PRESS RELEASE

July 23, 2008

Affordable housing on TV

“Tell It Like It Is” host Karen Nelson explores the many facets of affordable housing with guests Brent Butler and Sandy Hershelman. Butler is a Port Townsend City Councilman; Hershelman a candidate for Jefferson County Commissioner. Both have spent years advocating on behalf of housing affordability: Butler as a planner and Hershelman working on behalf of the local builders.

Jefferson County is the second least affordable county in the state. The housing affordability equation has many factors: workforce housing, subsidized housing, sweat equity programs, reasonable rents, zoning, keeping a lid on building regulations, and public/private partnerships.

Taped on July 19, the show airs through August on Fridays at 11:30 a.m., 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. on Port Townsend Television, formerly PTTV, channels 97 and 98.